Dear Room _____ Families,

To better support our families and students learning to read we are going to begin sending home "treasure books." These are classroom books that students choose to take home and read to a grown-up. Parents simply listen to their child read (and reread) the book and sign the form. The student will return the book to school the next day and pick out a new book.

The books your child will choose will be at his independent and instructional reading level. If you feel your child struggles with reading the treasure book to you, please contact us so we can take a closer look at the situation.

If your child loses his treasure book, you will be asked to replace the book or your child may lose this opportunity.

We look forward to hearing your feedback.

Happy Reading!
